

October Election Seen For L. G. Incorporation

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — The County Board of Supervisors Tuesday carved out more than a fifth of the proposed city of Lemon Grove but by doing so gave the remainder a better chance of holding a successful incorporation election. An election is seen for October.

The entire western section along with Vista La Mesa was excluded in one chunk. Exclusion protests had been heavy in that area.

American Homes, a wedge north of Freeway 94 was excluded on the east as was the southeastern portion along Sweetwater Road.

Vista La Mesa and the western portion along Freeway 94 were tied together to make more than one square mile, the minimum allowable exclusion where the territory is to be surrounded by cities.

The boundary starts at Waite dr. and the La Mesa city limits, goes west to Massachusetts, south to North ave., west on North almost to the freeway and then south past Broadway to Central, back to Massachusetts, then south to San Miguel and west on San Miguel to the San Diego city limits at 69th street.

The exclusion boundary borders the San Miguel school but leaves it in the proposed city.

The protests represented $2,842,790 of the assessed land valuation or 30.97 per cent of the total $9,235,950. As the protests did not reach 51 per cent, the board, according to County Counsel Bertram McLees, had to continue the incorporation movement but had wide discretion in setting the boundaries within the limits of the law.

No date has been set for the election, but McLees said he believed that it could be held in October. Frank Armstrong, chairman of the Committee for Incorporation, said his group wants the election as soon as possible.

Armstrong said his group had no particular objections to the exclusions.

The opponents put on an extensive drive in the final ten days since the first hearing. Many green marks dotted the map put on the board to show the protests but except for the areas finally excluded, the green did not appear to outnumber the non-protesting uncolored parcels.

R. P. Lorens and Jim D. Carroll told the board that they wanted two square miles excluded, using Buena Vista street as the north-south boundary of the exclusion. The board rejected this plan which would have taken much of the main business section out of the city boundaries.

Charles Brown said the board was helping the proponents by cutting down the votes against the city. He said that he did not believe the vote would carry, however.

Armstrong got into a brief argument with Fifth District Supervisor Robert Cozens on the function of the Local Agency Formation Commission which the chairman said could deny any further attempts at incorporation.

Cozens, rather sharply, said that it could but it wouldn't unless there was a good reason for denying an annexation.

Cozens said earlier he did not like the idea of the large exclusion to the west because of the difficulty of serving the area.

McLees said that the excluded area could later annex to either La Mesa, San Diego, or, perhaps, to Lemon Grove without regard to the one square mile limitation.

CHPman Pleads For Additional Driver Training

A plea was made for more citizens to contribute leadership in demanding earlier programs of driver education. The plea was made by California Highway Patrol Captain Roland Gautche Friday.

He said speed laws and stop intersection requirements can be enforced but driver attitude cannot be legislated.

"By the time a young adult gets into driver training programs in high school, his attitude is fixed. The training has to start before then."

LEMON GROVE REVIEW

Serves More Families — Tells More News

Stop Signs Pulled At Mass.-Central

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — County Supervisors Tuesday took action to eliminate the four-way stop signs at Massachusetts and Central in Lemon Grove.

The elimination of the stop signs on Massachusetts was recommended by County Road Commissioner David Speer. It was opposed by Second District Supervisor David Bird.

Speer said that traffic studies showed that 79 per cent of the traffic at the intersection is on Massachusetts with only 21 per cent on Central. He said the existing four-way stop is clearly unwarranted.

Speer said that the new construction on Massachusetts has resulted in an intersection with adequate visibility and graded level ground for pedestrians. He said that the lack of both were the reason for the installation of the four-way stop in the first place.

Massachusetts, he said, with its connection to Freeway 94 is now a true arterial. He said that the signal light at Broadway will break up the traffic flow to assure motorists on Central of safe crossing of Massachusetts.

Later, Speer said, when the improvement is continued to San Miguel, he will recommend the removal of the four-way stop at that street too.

In voting no, Bird said he remembered the fuss caused when the board eliminated a four-way stop at Sweetwater and Troy st.

DRINKING CITIZENS OCCUPY COPS HERE

Two gentlemen, enjoying an evening amid cafe society in Spring Valley, suffered separate citizens' arrests at the hands of Ervin Lewellen, the doorman at the Valley Crossroads cafe Friday last week.

John Calvin Hough, 26, of La Mesa and Robert Albert Dittulio, 24, of Pacific Beach were recipient of the charges of disturbing the peace and Deputy Sheriff's W. Fusaro and D. Boggs transported the men to jail at 12:01 a.m.

A couple of hours later James William Donlon, 66, of 7150 Broadway, Lemon Grove, arrested on a drunk charge, was transported from Cafe Shay Wen in Casa de Oro. Deputies Fusaro and Boggs also provided transportation to County Jail for him.

Donlon was arrested again and transported to County Jail Sunday at 2:55 a.m. after officers of the sheriff's office alleged that he had been drinking and disturbing the peace. He was allegedly disturbing residents of a house on Tweed street, Deputies L. King and C.

New Reader Campaign Nears Third-Way Mark

Two hundred and seventy-seven more reader families have been added to this publication's list of subscribers since a campaign got underway several weeks ago.

This week's list totals 45, all in the Spring Valley area. Each of the families is contributing to Angels Unaware through a contribution this newspaper is making in the new subscriber's name.

The campaign is to enlarge the number of readers so that the newspaper may be a more effective force in the community. Ed Boyd, the circulation manager under whose direction the campaign is being conducted, expects to get 1,000 new readers in Spring Valley before turning to Lemon Grove where he anticipates at least 1,000 new subscribers there.

Part of the proceeds from the project goes to Angels Unaware, the East County Chapter of San Diego Association for Retarded Children. The east county facility is at 1374 East Lexington ave., El Cajon. Retarded children not qualified for public schools are trained here.

Angels Unaware earmarks the contributions for playground equipment. Donations for each subscriber range from $3.50 down to ten cents. $3.50 is given when a new subscriber takes a two-year subscription without being solicited. Or when anyone obtains two, new one-year subscriptions from their neighbors or friends.

Those in Spring Valley in whose name we are making a contribution this week include:

The DIMMER VIEW

by MAX GOODWIN

Law May Be 'In' Again Soon

One of the most heartening promises we've heard from the national level was uttered at San Francisco last week by Senator Barry Goldwater.

He pointed to the lessening respect we Americans have for the law and said that under his presidency the nation would head back toward lawfulness.

He said the country had come upon sorry times when a New York girl (27-year-old Arlene del Fava) became enmeshed in the toils of the law for carrying a knife. Police learned of this "criminal act" when she used the knife to fight off a rapist (allegedly 20-year-old Harold Modell, a sailor). Senator Goldwater said the girl faces a trial (she was later cleared by a jury) while the rapist "may get a Congressional Medal of Honor". Goldwater stated these bold words in a television interview immediately after his nomination.

Is Goldwater dragging a red-herring across the path of other national issues? Hardly.

Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy released crime figures this week on Monday through J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI which showed serious crime in the U.S. had registered a ten per cent increase last year. Since 1953 the Nation's population rise of eight per cent has been outstripped by a 40 per cent increase in crime. Police arrests of juveniles for the same period have increased twice as fast as the young age population growth. Last year was the 15th consecutive year to register an increase in juvenile crime, Hoover says.

Meanwhile, here at home, San Diego Juvenile Traffic Court Supervising Hearing Officer Bernard S. Schwartz reported another record month for juvenile traffic citations. A total of 2,108 juvenile citations was received in June, 8 per cent more than given in the previous high month last January.

Senator Goldwater properly stated that respect for the law will not improve until leadership is given from the federal level.

He is reminding us again that you can't have Bobby Bakers and Billy Sol Estes wrecking faith in our system of laws and morality and not have youngsters follow such activity as a guide.

Goldwater for President!

'Is L.G. Here To Stay?' Is CoC Night Meet Theme

Hugh Hall, vice president of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, co-owner of the San Diego Spring and Brake Works and past president of the Highway Development Association, will provide the program at the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce's first membership meeting of the year.

The meeting will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the auditorium of the L.G. Junior High School.

Hall, who is also co-owner of Contractors Service and past president of the S.D. Automotive Jobbers Association, will discuss "Why It Pays To Try Lemon Grove First", according to Dr. Sam Smith, chairman of the Tuesday meeting. Dr. Smith said the meeting was intended to encourage more participation in Chamber activities by members.

Forrest Baxter, L.G. Chamber president, said the program will have as a theme "Is Lemon Grove Here To Stay?" "We need to examine every facet of our community if we are to consider ourselves a going concern," Baxter pointed out.

Ed Burt, chairman of the merchant's division of the Chamber said Don Johns will present the Treasure Chest program at the meeting. That project has a $400 or more jackpot, part of which is given away in a contest every Saturday. $50 will be given away in the course of demonstration Tuesday night Burt said.

The membership meeting stemmed from complaints of some directors that noon time meeting prevented many non-officers attending. A program tailored for general membership consumption resulted.

Hall also makes speeches for the San Diego Chamber's "Try San Diego County First" committee.

Plumber Wins $40 In Weekly Contest

W. H. Murray, a Lemon Grove plumbing contractor, who lives at 8160 Palm st., picked up an easy $40 Saturday when he was judged winner of the weekly Treasure Chest project.

The Treasure Chest is a regular promotional project of the L.G. Chamber of Commerce and competition is held weekly at the landmark lemon at Broadway and Imperial.

The contest is open to everyone. Contest coupons may be acquired at any business firm displaying a Treasure Chest placard. Every Saturday at 11 a.m. the competition starts and continues until a winner is decided.

The jackpot this week is $400. Winners must be present to claim their prize.

Tax Rate Cut Seen By Supervisor Bird

SAN DIEGO (CNS) — Dave Bird, Second District supervisor, Tuesday predicted a reduction in the county tax rate for fiscal 1964-65.

Bird said, "Information on the latest figures that I have received from Auditor A. H. Mueller makes it fairly safe to say that the county tax rate will go down. It is too early to say how much the reduction will be, but it could be as much as four or five cents."

The present tax rate is $2.139 for each $100 of assessed valuation. Still unknown is the valuation of public utilities which is set by the State Board of Equalization and not made public until the middle of August.

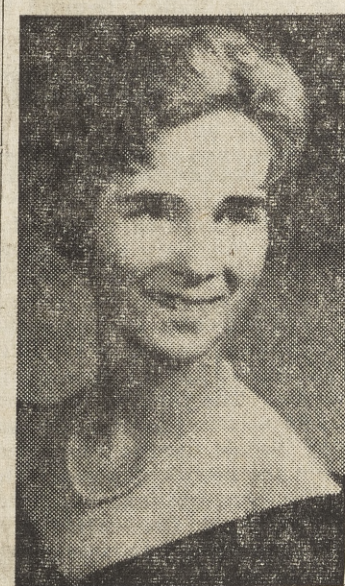

The County's assessed valuation stands at $1,656,278,870 but this will be cut some $60,000 in reductions of assessments granted by the Board of Supervisors sitting as the Board of Equalization.

Although Chief Administrative Officer T. M. Hegglund has made no prediction of the tax rate, two items appear to point to a reduction.

The budget for the coming fiscal year is the smallest percentage increase since 1952, according to Hegglund. The rise in assessed valuation at 5.2 per cent was the largest percentage increase since 1962.

In his budget message, Hegglund predicted a tight situation and the board in budget hearing held the line close, eliminating several new programs or requests for funds.

Bird said, "We may have made some mistakes in cutting programs in the effort to keep from rising taxes."

Joyce Wilson, 8864 Golf dr., Spring Valley, has been employed to run the office of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, Forrest Baxter, chamber president announced this week. Miss Wilson attended Sweetwater High School and Southwestern Junior College. She will keep the Chamber office open five days a week from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. She was formerly employed by Bank of America at the Fifth and Market branch.

A SPRING VALLEY FLUTIST, Barbara Browning, played with the 80-piece orchestra at the Long Beach convention of Jehovah's Witnesses this last weekend, where 20,000 attended. Miss Browning lives at 763 Broadview in Spring Valley Estates. Being blind may be a handicap for some, but Barbara believes in being active to the extent that some people would have a tough time keeping up with her pace. She is a sophomore at San Diego State studying music and journalism, as well as putting in above average time in domestic missionary work for Jehovah's Witnesses in her local area. When asked what she intended doing after her schooling she explained, "I need to look ahead to my needs so by working part time either in the field of music or on a newspaper as a music critic, I can support myself and go into full-time domestic missionary work."

As to her ability to teach others she stated, "I have been in the Watchtower public speaking classes since 1958." She keeps all her notes by memory the same way she plays the flute with an orchestra, which is quite an accomplishment. As to her reaction to playing with this orchestra she said, "It's a real thrill with a director like Al Kavelin, a Hollywood music publisher, and musicians like Trummy Young, Louis Armstrong's former trombonist." She also played at Pasadena's Watchtower convention last year where 118,000 attended and with a 200-piece all professional orchestra.

The Time Has Come To Stop Tumbleweeds

Once again the season has arrived for controlling Russian thistles before they dry and become unsightly tumbleweeds. Now the plants are easy to see and control. When Russian thistle is young, it has a green feathery appearance, and does not resemble the soon-to-be prickly, dry, rolling nuisance and eyesore.

Tumble weeds can be hoed out in small areas. Where a large area is infested, weed killers such as weed oil or 2,4-D weed killer is used, a no-fee permit must be secured from the County Department of Agriculture for the use of this State-law regulated herbicide.

If 2,4-D is used, extreme care should be exercised, for this material is deadly to many other plants and spraying should be limited to areas where the fumes and drift will not damage adjacent, desirable plants. Care also should be taken in cleaning the sprayer after the use of 2,4-D, or a separate sprayer used for weed control.

The DIMMER VIEW

able parts of several days investigating the story — and, as we suspected, the story was unfounded. We report it here to reduce concern among parents who have heard the same story. It just isn't true.

The tip was that a young man had been publicly castrated by members of the Muslims. Police had the story bottled up so as not to frighten off ringleaders, was part of the story.

It isn't possible to bottle up an event as horrible as that but we tracked the story to a source anyhow. As the week ended we had pinpointed the source. The source was an employee of a local firm. He had told his employer that he has seen and talked to the mutilated youngster while he was making a delivery in Spring Valley the week before. He swore the boss to secrecy. The delivery man was off for the day, his boss said, and he had an unlisted telephone.

While we were waiting for our reporter to try to locate the delivery man we checked the sheriff's office. They said a similar mutilation story had been circulated a couple of weeks before in Los Angeles, also with a shopping center as the locale. A sheriff's investigator said that a similar story is being spread in Santee with members of a PTA group contacting the sheriff's Department for guidance. San Diego police admit hearing similar rumors but insisted that the information was not factual. Police reporters for the downtown newspapers had checked it out and they, too, said it didn't happen.

Late Friday contact was established with the delivery man who had reported to his boss that he had talked to the Spring Valley youngster who had been mutilated. He was at his home in El Cajon.

During our conversation he confessed that he had not actually seen the youth nor talked to him. He said that a woman at whose home he had made the delivery had told him she knew a woman who had talked to the boy. As in most rumors, witnesses are always one person away.

It was a horrible story and any way you look at it made only a little less horrible because it didn't happen.

Then why report it?

We report it to allay the fears of the many frightened parents who have heard the same rumor. And we report it to make a point of the number of hours and the amount of energy newsmen use to produce the truth. No story was developed because the tips were false.

Yet newsmen are obligated to track down tips such as these because it is possible, though not probable, that such events could happen.

And when they do, you have a right to know.

The Economic Aspect of Pay TV

No matter whether or not you favor pay television, a basic fact is constant. If you use pay teevee, you pay for what you receive.

Those little boxes which are the cash register hearts of the pay operation, are also a rating service; probably the only completely honest rating service now in existence.

Many supporters of pay teevee are of the belief that paying for television is not only proper but it is desirable to the degree that a more ad-type of programming can be planned. There is no assurance that there will not be commercials will be more palatable than those now offered free.

Another group believes that economic laws will control the types of programs offered to subscribers.

Previously, when we tried to assess the social and economic impact of pay teevee, both sides clobbered us. One of the reasons they could do this with impunity is that pay teevee was yet to come. They were suggesting that we were hollering "wolf" where only a jack rabbit existed.

Now, Mr. Sylvester L. Weaver, the president of Subscription Television, Inc., has commenced his pay teevee business in Los Angeles.

It started July 17. Three channels now operated by Mr. Weaver in Los Angeles, permit viewers a choice of programs at a given time. In the firm's publication "Subscriber's Choice", programs and prices are listed. Prices range from 50c for "Bridge With Sheinwald" (although we never believed anyone would pay money to watch a card game) to $2 for a recorded presentation of Carol Channing in "Show Girl". Baseball games, featuring the L.A. Dodgers, cost $1.50. Last Saturday, for example, you could have viewed the Dodgers vs. Cubs, at 12:45 p.m. for $1.50; the Scapino Ballet of Amsterdam, on film, at 7 p.m. for $1.50, and at 8:30 Miss Channing's "Show Girl" is available at $2. With a couple of cans of un-commercialized beer a fellow could have himself an entertainment ball at home Saturday afternoon an evening for $5.

Our guess is that the average viewer will watch two offerings an evening and that he will pay an average of $1.25 for each of these. If he watches five nights a week he will have contributed $625.00 of his recreation fund each year to Mr. Weaver's livelier arts.

Possibly most people will consider it a bargain.

DIOCESAN COUNCIL

Volunteer Work At Angels Unaware Brings Hope And Help To Retarded And Handicapped

By John Owen

A place to learn to play and to be understood is what mentally retarded and multiply handicapped children and adults have found at the Angels Unaware Center in El Cajon.

During the last school year 23 children were enrolled in the nursery program and an additional 31 were in other center activities.

The children learn to play together, some learn to wash their own hands, to feed themselves and to reach other goals with the aid of the teachers and helpers at the center.

The non-profit, non-sectarian center is supported by volunteer funds and workers.

The center, at 1374-1388 E. Lexington in El Cajon, serves those in the Heartland area who are too severely handicapped, too old or too retarded to be in public schools and recreational facilities.

The center is for children of Lemon Grove, Spring Valley, La Mesa, El Cajon, Santee, Lakeside, Dulzura, Alpine and Jamul.

During the school year it operates five days a week and now a summer program is in progress.

The Angels Unaware East County Center traces its history back to March 2, 1959, when the El Cajon Junior Woman's Club opened Sunbeam Center in La Cresta. The purpose of the center was to prepare pre-school mentally retarded children for special classes in the public school system. Classes were held five mornings a week at a private home.

By 1960 the center had moved twice and the need for further expansion was made clear. In September, 1960, an organizational meeting was held for those who were interested in the training of retarded children in the East County area and a board of directors was formed to take over the operation of the center from the El Cajon Junior Woman's Club.

Shortly after this meeting the directors decided to affiliate with the San Diego County Association for Retarded Children. The name was changed to East County Center for Mentally Retarded.

The program continued to grow and in 1962 the property on East Lexington was bought. This location was the ideal start for the permanent home of the center. Remodeling began.

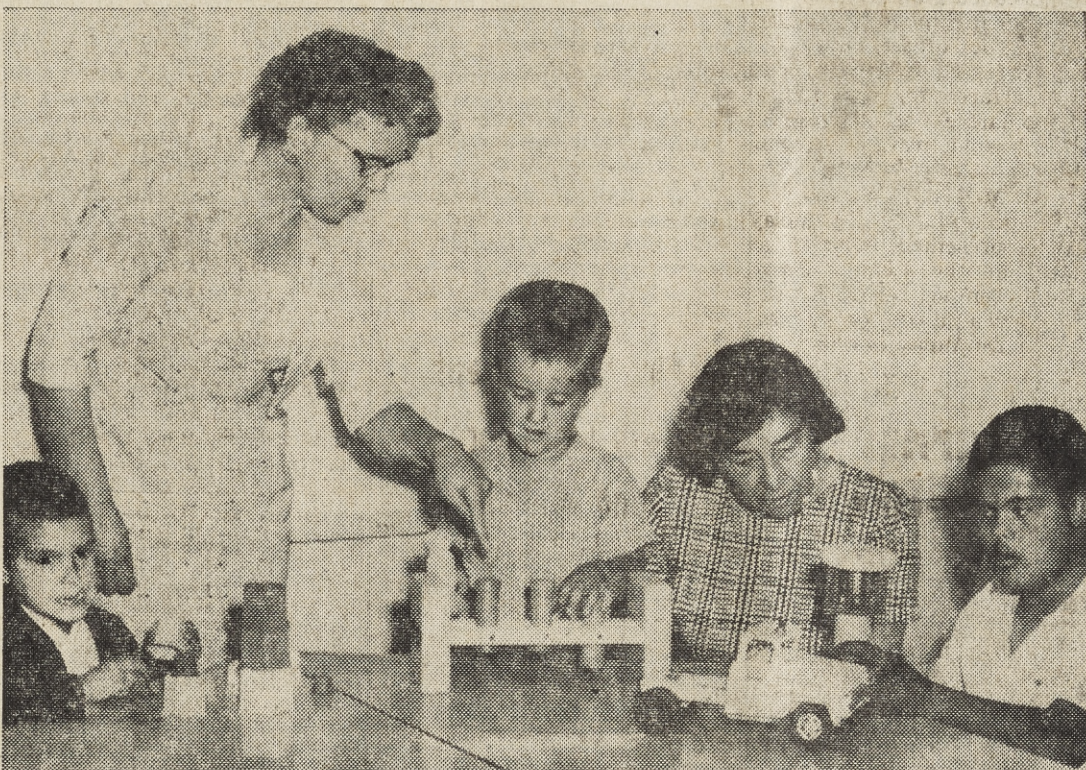

The community supported the center with contributions of money, building materials and services.

During the summer of 1962 a 26-by-50 foot swimming pool was donated by the Associated Swimming Pool Industries. The pool now stands without water, however, because funds are not available for enclosing and decking.

During 1962 a Dollar-a-Month Club was formed with close to 150 members. The club's purpose is to help make the mortgage payments each month.

Much progress has been made at the center. Ducts for central heating have been installed in the entire building. Beamed ceilings have been enclosed and sprayed with acoustic plaster. Wiring in the entire building has been brought up to safety standards. Kitchens in both wings of the center have been modernized and some of the rooms have been paneled in cedar which was donated.

Work is now being done on the boy's workshop and there

Also underway is the formation of a library to educate parents, volunteer workers and the public in problems of mental retardation. A memorial fund to finance the library has been set up and some books have been donated.

But there is still much work to be done.

There are parquet floors to be refinished and concrete floors to be covered with vinyl tile.

Also needed are a blacktop driveway, sidewalks in front of the buildings, and outside and some inside painting. A new roof, landscaping and a loud-speaker system are also on the to-be-taken-care-of list.

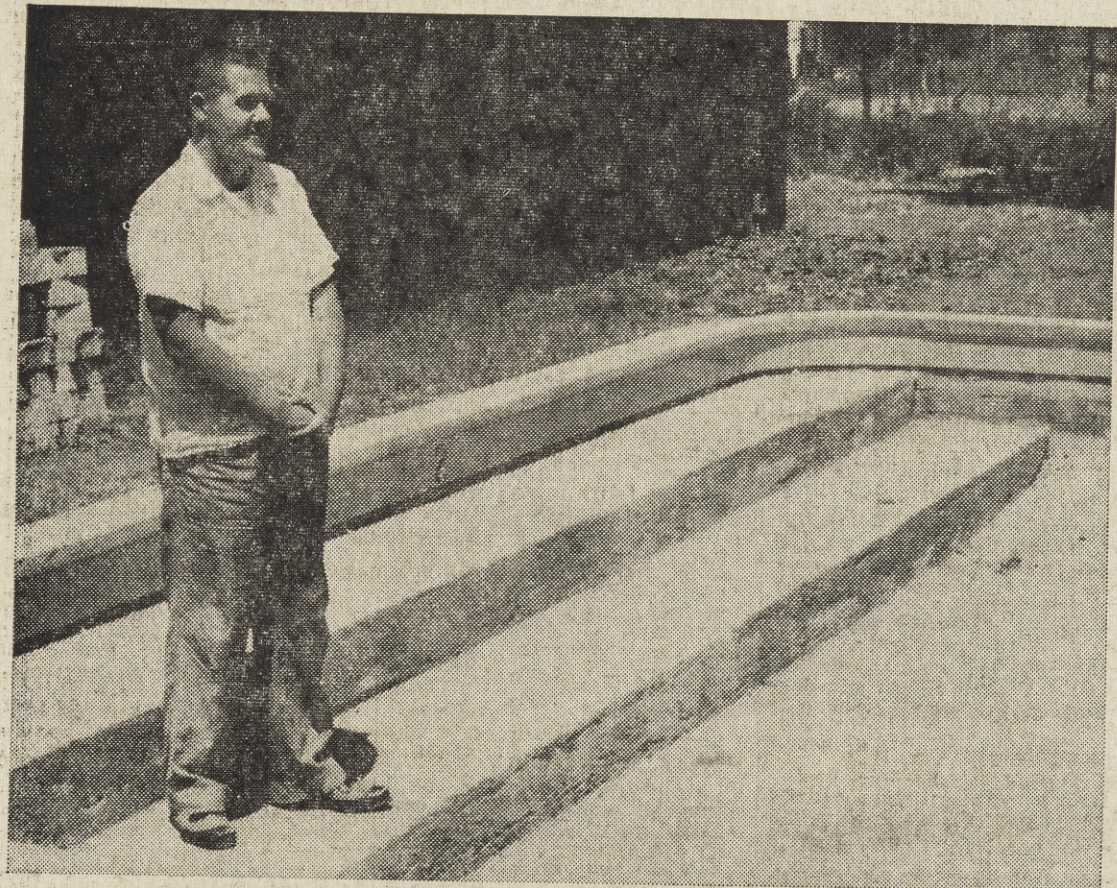

George F. Holland, president of the center, said, "A great deal is still to be accomplished, but with the type of support we have received, we have no fears for the future."

"In due time this training center will become a model of its kind, an establishment to which all can point with pride, and a valuable addition to the community," he added.

The center has sent out a call for persons who will donate their time for painting, cabinet making, furniture refinishing and other phases of construction work. There is also need for workers to do jobs that require no skill but just time and willingness, and of course, funds are always needed.

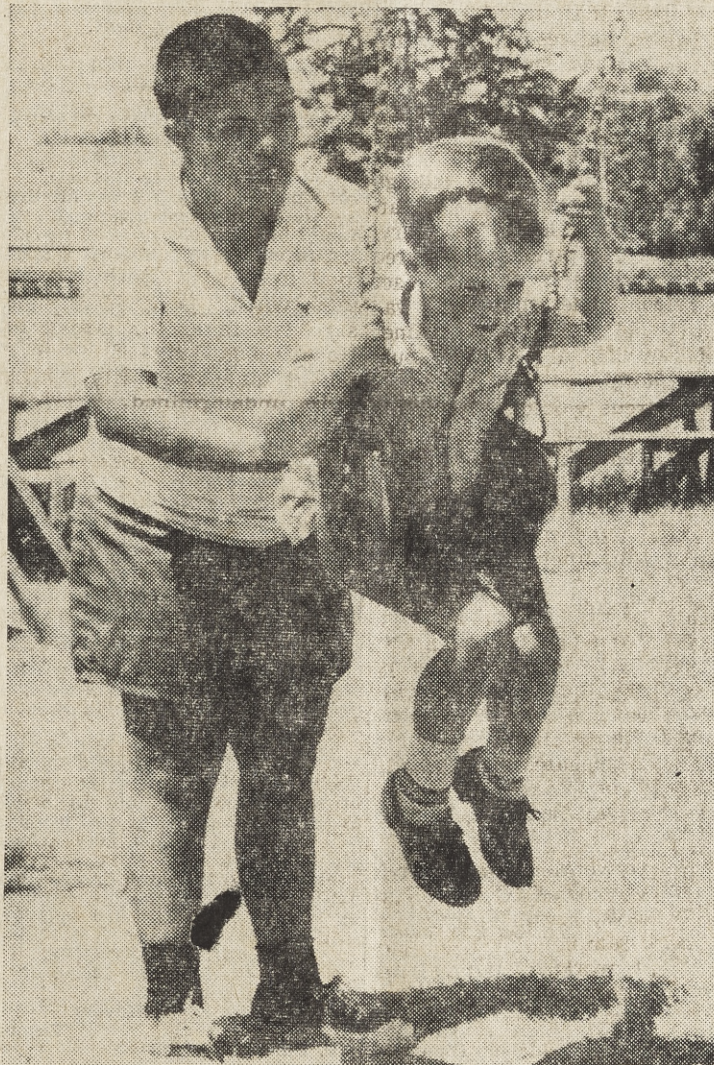

Those wishing to help the center can call the Angels Unaware office at 444-9417.

AND HIS BATHING SUIT NEVER GOT WET—Raymond Fichter stands in the swimming pool at the center and thinks of how it would be if there were water in the pool. The 26-by-50-foot swimming pool was donated by a swimming pool association in 1962. But until funds are available for enclosing and decking, the pool will have to stand empty. When the pool is put in use it will be available for other handicapped persons in the Heartland area as well as for the mentally retarded and multiply handicapped at the Angels Unaware Center.

The goal of the center is to finish and equip the facilities in order to serve and help the retarded children of this area. The work is accomplished through the help of individuals, clubs, business people, Marines, Seabees, parents and friends who give of their time, money, volunteer labor, equipment and interest.

Those wishing to help the center at 1374-1388 E. Lexington in El Cajon can telephone 444-9417.

PLAYING TOGETHER — Joey Rapez helps Barry Greer get off to a high start in a swing at the center's playground. Persons beginning or extending their subscriptions to this newspaper during the present subscription campaign are helping to buy playground equipment for the Angels Unaware Center.

BIG CATCH — When the center sent out a plea for fishing equipment over a local t.v. station approximately 100 complete sets of fishing poles and gear were sent in. A volunteer worker gives Raymond Fichter some advice on fixing a pole. Students at the center take frequent fishing trips. An official at the center said that fishing is a wonderful therapy for retarded children and adults.

Ticket sales, at $1 each, are expected to provide funds to build a recreation-center-type building on La Mesa City property at Sunset Park, adjacent to Lake Murray. The building, to contain 5,000 square feet of space, will provide practice facilities for the Chargers, according to Glenn Kendall, La Mesa City manager. It will revert to city use after the Chargers complete their training.

Actually, the $30,000 building was underwritten by 60 La Mesa businessmen. They signed notes for $500 each through the Bank of America because they saw the Chargers as a signal attraction for the community. Proceeds from the game, whatever they are, will be used to reduce the obligation.

Kendall said the low ticket cost will permit many parents to show the Chargers to their youngsters at a nominal cost.

At the game, players will sign autographs at 7 p.m. Shortly thereafter, Coach Sid Gillman will hold a pre-game clinic which will be carried over the field's speaker system. At 8 p.m. the game starts.

Tickets are available in this area at the office of this newspaper, 7834 Lester ave., Lemon Grove.

Also on July 16 there was a brush fire in the 1800 block of Ensenada street. One-fourth acre of brush was burned before the first was brought under control. Children playing with matches were blamed for the fire.

Children and matches were the apparent cause of another brush fire on July 21 in the 8100 block of Lincoln. The small fire was quickly controlled, firemen said.
